

Dear Family Public Law Service user

Case file view

On 13 November 2023 we will be launching the case file view on the Family Public Law Service.

Case file view replicates the layout of court bundles and previous electronic filing structures to make the service more intuitive. To ensure documents are clearly identifiable we have worked with the judiciary to agree a simple naming convention that must be followed:

Document Type _ Name of related person _ Role of related person
E.g. Witness statement _ Jane Smith _ Respondent 2

We're making these changes following your feedback asking us to make uploading, locating and viewing documents quicker and easier. The case file view will save you time looking for documents in multiple places and will resolve the issue of being unable to upload a document when there is no hearing date.

Other advantages of case file view include:

- a clear file/folder structure, making it easier to find documents
- the ability to preview documents on MyHMCTS quickly without having to open them in a new tab
- the ability to search by document name
- a new, streamlined document upload process based on feedback from local authorities and solicitors
- the ability to remove uploaded documents which have been uploaded post release

Guidance

Guidance on uploading documents when applying and responding to public law applications is available on GOV.UK
